* What is SEMG (Surface Electromyography)?

SEMG is a system of functional analysis and physiologic assessment—we can compare and contrast the intensity of muscle activity and thereby are able to analyse muscular integrity and balance in the body. We can then examine systemic muscular activity to give us further insight into the overall tensegrity or tone of the nerve system which is the master controlling system of the body giving us a picture of the physiology of the animal.

In other words, we can see right inside your horse to detect real and potential problems!
